ANOTHER ENCOURAGING ALBERTA CROP REPORT

WINNIPEG—Crops in the West are now far enough advanced to indicate with certainty satisfactory yields pending favorable weather for the Canadian Pacific Agricultural Department this morning. Weather conditions last week were all that could be desired, grain well filled and ripened rapidly. In a few localities some of the wheat is mixed owing to uneven germination due to dryness of soil in the early spring. This condition, however, is only local and not by any means general. The important requirement for the small after harvest is warm dry weather in order to assist ripening. There are a few indications of stem rust, but the weather of last week was very favorable for its development. Only a minor amount of damage could possibly now occur from rust as the grain is practically all developed beyond the stage of ripening. Hay is proceeding rapidly revealing heavy crops, and green pastures are excellent; and livestock are enjoying the benefits. Cutting of wheat on a general scale will not start in Manitoba before next week. The crop is holding good and grain filling well. No further signs of rust and danger from this source is about over for the season. A number of farmers have purchased combines for this season's crop and a large amount of binder twine will be used on wheat farms. Grass is good and livestock doing well, prices keeping up.

Wheat is maturing nicely in Saskatchewan and cutting commenced at a few points, should be general next week. Fall Rye and Barley are being harvested. Apart from hail damage there is no trace of any harm to crop. Oats and Barley are better than usual.

Early sown wheat on summerfallow and new breaking will reveal many good crops in Alberta some cutting of early wheat, oats, barley and rye has already been accomplished. Wheat harvesting will be general all over the province by the middle of next week.

THE ALBERTA WHEAT POOL REFUTES RUMORS

The Alberta Wheat Pool has issued the following statement with reference to rumors concerning the Organization which have been circulating in many newspapers for the past few weeks:

"Statements emanating from various sources to the effect that the Wheat Pool has an enormous carry-over from the 1927 crop, and is in a 'huge funk' because of the large volume of new crop to be delivered within the next few months are ridiculously inaccurate. Neither is the Wheat Pool thinking of running to cover under the protecting wing of any Government.

The estimates of the Wheat Pool carry-over have been placed in certain newspapers as that of anything up to 700,000 bushels. As a matter of fact the Wheat Pool carry-over this year will not be any larger than that of last year, and possibly less.

It is true that the Canadian wheat crop will be large this year, but such ridiculous estimates as that of 700,000,000 bushels which was recently worn from Winnipeg to Chicago are entirely unfounded, and do a great deal of damage. As a matter of fact the crop may not exceed that of last year and outrageous estimates only tend to lower prices.

The Pool handled last year's crop in spite of the damaged condition of a large percentage of it, in a capable and efficient manner. There are no grounds for the belief that it will not handle the forthcoming crop in an even more efficient way. Pool members can rest assured that their organization is functioning smoothly, and that they will get the very best average price obtainable for their wheat. There is no reason for members being panic-stricken.

The Wheat Pool is entering their second contract period in very considerable strength. Undoubtedly the membership will be increased very rapidly during the next few months. Five years of operation has given the Pool Directors and Officials invaluable experience and it is only reasonable to expect that each succeeding year more efficiency will be attained."

GRADE EIGHT SCHOOL RESULTS

Part Grades IX and X
The first figures of the following table are units attempted; the second units passed; and the third, averages.
Helen Beasley, 5, 5, 72; Margaret Schultz, 7, 6, 72; Ingeborg Olyk, 8, 7, 71; Hector McCreary, 7, 6, 5, 5, 5; Nathan Woldum, 7, 5, 5, 5, 5; Marjorie Wooster, 7, 4, 5, 5, 5; Tena Glendinning, 6, 5, 4, 5; Norman Ellis, 9, 4, 4, 4.

This class wrote on 36 units and received credits in 40 or 73.9%.

The whole Grade VIII attempted 216 units and passed in 173 or 80%. One hundred per cent passes were achieved in the following units: General Science, Arithmetic, Geography, Composition, 2, History, 3, Literature, 3, and Latin 3.

Grade VIII received 250 marks to pass out of a maximum of 500. The following are the marks of the successful pupils of the Strathmore Grade VIII:

Phyllis Bower 281 (honors), Sylvia Philpott 255, Muriel McDonald 255, Helen Shrimpton 247, Violet Hyde 217, Arthur Macdonald 215, Vincent Munn 213, Harold Hamar 208, Ames Frederick 205, Dorothy Freeman 202, Harold Freeman 202, Alice Rellinger 71, Genevieve Callaghan 52.

The whole Grade VII class, including the two who did not pass, made an average of 302.5.

Forty-three students have enrolled for the High School at the time of writing.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Tuesday night. The members present were Mayor Shrimpton and Councillors Miner, Saunders and Quinn.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

The correspondence with the Canadian Pacific Natural Resources in regard to securing approximately an acre of land to make a satisfactory farm in the neighborhood of the intersection of Bailey Boulevard and 4th St. was read, in which the Canadian Pacific very kindly offered to donate this piece of land, the town to pay for transfer and repairing the fence, which was accepted by the Council.

The Mayor reported that the work of John Robertson at the cemetery had been discontinued.

THE U. S. MIGRATION FAVORS CANADA

TORONTO—Canada is still losing many citizens to the United States but is getting more citizens than it is losing. The figures just issued from Washington showing the total number of Canadians entering the United States, to take up permanent residence in that country, during the year to June 30 are disappointing, even though less than the previous year's total. The American figures show 73,154 such immigrant arrivals from Canada as against 81,500 in the previous year. This was a net decline of over $300 for the period. The decline in the previous twelve months period has been 9,500. Apparently the "trick" is swelling though dwindling rather slowly. It is hard to say what is the irreducible minimum of Canadian migration to the United States. The two of each nation lie alongside of each other is bound to remain a constant stimulus to movement of people back and forth, especially when the restrictions on such movement are so moderate as they are today.

After all, what counts is the balance of immigration between Canada and the United States. During June, 4,348 Canadians left Canada to seek up permanent residence across the border. In the same month 3,528 Canadians, who had gone to the United States to take up residence, returned to this country. But there were in the neighborhood of 3,000 Americans who came to Canada in June. The net advantage was distinctly in favor of Canada.

Distinctly good business conditions in Canada and a high level of employment are bringing Americans and ex-Canadians to Canada. The same factors would bring larger numbers of British and European immigrants to Canada if our immigration policy was not restrictive in its very nature.

Coming Events

The Ladies Aid of the United Church will meet at the home of Mrs. J. McKay, on Thursday, August 23, at 5 p.m.

Miss Amy Conroy, Public Health Nurse, will be in Strathmore from August 30th to September 1st, for the purpose of giving lectures on Home Nursing and First Aid.

A meeting of the Strathmore School Fair will be held in the High School building on Thursday, September 6, at 8 p.m. The matter of people evading the parking by law was brought before the Council.

Scott people who own dogs will be prosecuted for non-payment, if tax is not paid within a few days.

The Secretary-Treasurer was instructed to make the last meeting before anyone, without exception, who has failed to pay the Minimum School Tax. The contract for the half-mile road building on Bailey Boulevard was reported completed, and the work on same will under way, and will be finished within a few days.

The Secretary-Treasurer was in fine form, only having to report for payment two small accounts amounting to less than twelve dollars.

At the conclusion of the business of the Council, Mayor Shrimpton, in a few well chosen words, extended the congratulations of the Council to Councillor Quinn upon his advancement to the dignity of attaining the position of a respected benedict, at

HOW TO FIGHT THE BERTHA ARMY WORM

Mr. H. E. Gray, assistant entomologist of the Lethbridge laboratory, was in town on Friday, just returning from a trip throughout the eastern portion of the province.

While in town he called upon Mr. R. S. Stockton, who always has a sympathetic ear for any specialist in the province of the crops of Alberta. Mr. Gray in conversation with the Standard, gave us the following story about one of the latest pests—the Bertha Army Worm—which is making Alberta a visit this year, and may be much more numerous in 1929, if people do not give them a rather warm and stinging reception.

BURNS CANTATA AT BANFF

The revival of Burns cantata, "The Jolly Beggar" announced for the Highland gathering at Banff, August 31 to Sept. 1, should be of special interest to lovers of the works of the Scottish lord, for this will be its first production in Canada, and even in the Old Country it has not been sung for over fifty years. This is strange when one remembers that Thomas Carlyle in his famous essay on Burns called it the most perfect of its kind. "Light, airy and swift of movement."

The songs incorporated included such old-time concert favorites as "A Highland Lad," "My Love was Born," and nearly all the tunes are familiar to every Scot; indeed the whole cantata is extremely melodious. It may be that it passed out of favor when Sir Henry Bishop, who harmonized and arranged the melodies, came to be thought of at date. For this production at Banff, the bishop setting has been revised and enriched by Maude Woodhill, a modern composer whose skill in peripheral arrangements has been recognized by the leading countries in the United States. She has kept in mind Burns' peasant character, yet has retained a thoroughly Scottish atmosphere.

The singers will include some notable voices including John Macneil, of Winnipeg, who starred last winter with the American Opera Company in New York, and Catherine Wright, also of Winnipeg, a contralto who has won approval in the States as well as in Canada. The recitative will be spoken by J. Campbell McInnes, of Toronto and New York, who will impersonate Robert Burns himself.

The Lady of the Lake
Another cantata or ballad opera on the Banff program which will be produced for the first time on any stage deals with the romantic figure of James V of Scotland, the Marie Antoinette of the "Lady of the Lake."

This has been prepared from a scenario and notes supplied by Professor H. B. Hall, historiographer royal of Scotland, who has provided a historical framework for the play of the day of the fourteenth century. James V was taught the songs and ballads of Scotland by his tutor, Sir David Lindsay, King of Arms, and himself in later years wrote some of a humorous and convivial nature, suitable to the company he kept, as he roamed "inelegant through the country."

The opera introduces a host of Queen of Scots, who sent John Knox from the French gallows. Harry the Minstrel will be played by J. Campbell McInnes, who is one of the most noted of living interpreters of the ballads of Scotland. Mary of Guise

Mr. Gray finds that in many of the fields and clover fields as well as in the garden cutworms are made, their appearance. They vary in color from light green to a velvety black, often having white streaks lengthwise on their bodies. This is the Bertha Army Worm, a new pest, and is capable of doing considerable damage to grain. It is a very small insect, and its eggs are laid about the second week of July on the leaves of plants by a rather inconspicuous moth, the "miller" of medium size. The larvae or worms, while small, feed practically only at night and remain during the day at the base of the plants, crawling up after the sun goes down to obtain their food. The younger larvae are different shades of green, but when about three weeks old they take on a darker color and at the same time quite often cease going down to the ground, remaining at all times on the leaves and stems of the plants on which they feed.

This cutworm has caused damage for the past two or three years in Alberta in a small way, particularly to sweet clover seed fields, stripping the seeds from the stems and leaving the plants bare. Alfalfa blossoms have also been destroyed as seed crops of this plant materially reduced in yield.

PASTOR ALLOWS SON TO SERVE SENTENCE

RAMMONTON, N.Y.—Refusing to pay the fine of $200 imposed upon his son, Harry Watson, 26 years old, on a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated, the Rev. Elwood Watson, pastor of the Turnerville Methodist church allowed the son to go to jail.

"I am a religious man," said the minister, "if I compromised now by giving my son his liberty by paying his fine."

who sings some old French ballads, will be impersonated by Frances James of Montreal. Jeanne Dussau of Toronto as a lady of the court will sing some of the exquisite songs of the period, and will be accompanied by Maude Waterworth on the harp. James V will be played by Frances Morgan, a dramatic baritone of Toronto, while John Macneil will impersonate the songs of Sir David Lindsay.

Gaelic Music Featured

Gaelic music will be strongly featured this year. Marie Thompson is coming from London to sing some of the Hebrides. Finlay Campbell of Glawa has been collecting Gaelic songs in Cape Breton which he will render at Banff. The Highland Gaelic Society of Calgary will present a talk incorporating some of the waiting notes near at the making of Harris' tweed.

In the general concert the program will deal largely with the songs of Burns, whose melodies, with music to deal with in an interesting article printed in the preliminary booklet with this Highland gathering. The singers include in addition to those already mentioned: Marion Cox, contralto of Vancouver; Mrs. Webster, soprano of Calgary; Harry the Minstrel will be played by J. Campbell McInnes, who is one of the most noted of living interpreters of the ballads of Scotland. Mary of Guise

Priest in Flames Blind, Grants Absolution

NORTH BAY, Ont.—Albert Lafreniere, sole survivor of the tragedy which took five lives in Lake Huron, related how Rev. Father J. B. Dubuc, parish priest of Lavigne, blinded by fire, his clothes ablaze, stood on his burning gasoline launch, and, despite his hand, cast his eyes heavenward and granted absolution to five others who were about to perish.

"There is nothing else to do. We must jump into the water," gasped Father Dubuc as the flames devoured the small craft, and when the party jumped, Mr. Lafreniere was clasping his baby to his breast. Albert Lafreniere clutched the other child in his arms and, as the swimmer, on the instructions of Father Dubuc, a powerful swimmer, who went to the aid of the two strapping women.

Three hundred yards away Albert Lafreniere could see illuminated by the glow of the burning launch, a small island, and still clutching his son in his arms, he swam frantically for it. When within 100 feet of the island his son slipped from his weakened arms and, as his mother and brother in distress, Lafreniere managed to struggle ashore where in a few minutes he had recovered his strength sufficiently to cry for help. A mile away from the scene of the accident is the parish of Lavigne where his cries were heard, and a party immediately set out in a boat for the island.

The party was on a pleasure cruise when tragedy overtook it.

"MEN'S BETTER WEAR"

Designed FOR Dependability

Firestone engineers found that the life of a tire depends as much upon the flexing life of the cords of the carcass, as upon the toughness of the tread.

To provide extra strength, stamina, and long wear, Firestone dips the cords of the carcass in a rubber solution. This saturates and insulates every strand of every cord, minimizing internal friction and gives thousands of extra miles. The Firestone Dealer in your locality will gladly serve you, and save you money.

SPORT NOTES

HEAVYWEIGHT CLASS IS GREAT JUMBLE

NEW YORK—Johnny Risako has whipped Paulino Urcudun and drawn with Jack Sharkey. In another fight Sharkey defeated Risako. Tom Hisey has a decision over Risako. Urcudun has drawn with Hisey once and defeated him once. Tommy Loughran holds a decision over Risako, and Urcudun holds one over Knute Hansen. Figure it out for yourself. Tex Rickard can't.

It's the greatest heavyweight jumble pugilism has ever known. One of those six men is likely to be the next champion, but only a seer could pick the man.

Risako has come along fast in the last year, and next to Hisey, looked the best in the most recent of Rickard's elimination tournaments. Risako and Hisey have much in common. Neither is a great puncher, both carry the fight to their opponents, both are bulky and are along close to the ground.

The recent eclipse of Jack Sharkey can be laid squarely at the door of the greatest Jack of them all—Dempsey. Sharkey was pounding opponent to a pulp until he ran up against the left fist of the Minnesota Mauler and didn't wake up until 30 seconds later. Among his assets, Sharkey has little speed and more than average skill as a boxer. Among his liabilities, experts lack the lack of a fighting heart.

Hisey, Not Out Of It Yet. He is the same rugged fighter he was before he met Gus Tanney, and he is just as bad a boxer as he ever was. Rickard probably will insist that Hisey stop aside and give some of the other boys a chance.

Loughran, backed by a great boxing record, is thundering at the title. The light heavyweight champion has been with the best of them, but when it comes to knocking an opponent to sleep, he just doesn't have the stuff.

Urcudun would be a great drawing card. His presence in the ring would lend an international aspect to the match, and the Spaniard can sock. If he would take three months to build him up and bring him out of the obscurity into which he has been shoved for the last year, what Urcudun needs is a smart manager to nurse him along.

Dempsey, An Enigma

For some strange reason Knute Hansen is seldom mentioned among the outstanding heavyweights. His record is unimpressive, but he has the greatest asset in the world—youth. The big Dane is only 25 years old. He has lots to learn more than he realizes himself, but he can devote the next three years to his pugilistic education and still be young enough to retain his speed and fire.

Dempsey still casts a long shadow across the heavyweight field, and no man can predict with certainty what the former champion will do. Right now Dempsey is learning how to apply grease paint and how to walk on and off the stage gracefully. He will appear in a play in New York sometime during August. You can interpret that in two ways:

1. As the beginning of a balletic fight for the next heavyweight fight.
2. As definite assurance that Dempsey is through with the ring and is seeking other ways of making money.

REDDICK WILL HAVE BATTLE AT TRAIL, B.C.

MOOSE JAW—Providing satisfactory arrangements can be made Jack Reddick of Moose Jaw, former middleweight champion of Canada and an unsuccessful contender for the world's light heavyweight title, will step into the ring with George Harlow, Nelson, B.C. heavyweight title, at Trail, B.C., to ward the end of September.

Reddick met Anderson in the Memorial Hall at Strathmore. According to Barney Farn, Harlow is a well known fighter in British Columbia and has two hard fights in line prior to engaging Reddick. First of these is with Orville Darr, Spokane, at Trail, on August 18 and the second with Lew Kester, Lethbridge, champion of the Canadian light heavyweight championship, on labor day.

Jack Reddick is now in training at Minneapolis with Percy Pollock and is getting in fine condition. He intends to complete his training at Minneapolis and will leave for Trail just prior to the date of the bout.

Bill Buxton, proprietor of the Alexander Hotel, Calgary, and owner of the Calgary and Calgary Heavyweight Club, and a heavy fighter himself, has challenged Reddick to a fight for the title of the province.

The belt for Western Canadian title and was originally donated by Buxton for the Canadian light heavyweight championship. It has now been altered for the heavyweight championship of Western Canada. Bill Buxton is recognized as one of the leading sports in Western Canada and has donated two other belts for Canadian championships, the featherweight and welterweight. These belts are of the best silver suitably engraved with all bandeaux.

Bob Cochran, Moose Jaw, is now fighting in Alberta and British Columbia under the name of Jack Canuck under the management of Bill Buxton and has won his last three starts by decisions according to Tex Rickard. He has plenty of future and is predicted to be the coming lightweight champion of Canada. He is popular with the fans. Mr. Buxton is spending considerable time and money on this boy and intends taking him to New York to place him under the wing of Leo Flynn, trainer of Jack Dempsey.

INFILTD CAN WIN OR LOSE PENNANT

CHICAGO—What are the chances of the Chicago Cubs winning their first National League pennant since 1918? The answer is, the best in 19 years.

Why? Because the Cubs have what is generally recognized to be, and what Manager McCarthy emphatically states is the best pitching staff in the circuit, and as fine an outfield combination as any in the major leagues, from the standpoint of regulars and substitutes.

However, whether or not the Cubs win the title depends in great measure upon the showing during the last half of the season of three men, one of them a new player of only four years of professional experience. These men comprise the present infield combination, with the veteran, Grimm, at first base.

Why so much stress is placed upon the infield is obvious. It is the one uncertain department of the game so far as concerns the Cubs. Manager McCarthy stated last year that if his new infield combination worked, the Cubs could win the title. Has it worked?

Reply is certainly in the affirmative, for the club as a whole is right up close to the top in fielding. But from an offensive standpoint not much can be said for the English-Buck-Maguire trio, shortstop, third baseman and first baseman, respectively. Not one of them is hitting above .300. In fact, only three men on the team are hitting over that mark. Grimm, Stephens and Wilton Down the last stretch, the offensive of the Cubs should be decidedly stronger, according to the manager. And that is what it needs.

Manager McCarthy does not consider any one of the first four teams

out of the running for the title. It is too close a race and too much depends upon every single department of the game holding up under strain, English and Maguire, who perform around second base, are not new to each other, although they are new to the Chicago club. English came to the Cubs in 1927 and played most of the games in that season. Maguire is setting his second chance in the majors, after being up with the New York Giants in 1923 and then going to Toledo where he made a good record. He is a graduate of Holy Cross and in 1927 was the leading second baseman in the American Association. English went to the Cubs from Toledo and in 1925 English and Maguire comprised the infield combination around second base for Toledo that was the pride of the Association in both years. Clyde E. Beck is not new to the majors, but in working combination with the English and Maguire he is setting his second chance to increase their effectiveness at first base, somewhat, and hold their place in the field, to the finish of the season, the Cubs may capture the national pennant flag. And this, according to Manager McCarthy, is saying a great deal with two clubs like New York and St. Louis to compete against.

Man to man, the Chicago Cubs' pitching staff compares favorably with the famed Chicago team, according to Manager McCarthy it is better. Blake's return has strengthened club and Carlson is expected to raise his regular top run.

Cuyler has partially regained his stride at bat but is not yet up to his best form. As long as he has reasonably well he will remain in the lineup, McCarthy said. He doesn't begin down below .300 in the batting averages and is certain to move up over it before many weeks.

Manager McCarthy has been given a free rein with the Cubs. His judgment has been accepted unreservedly. The result is that the Cubs of 1928 have been shaken up radically and Jones, Hartnett, Blake and Grimm are the only members of the present team who were on the squad when the new manager came in 1928.

In his first year as pilot, McCarthy led the Cubs to fourth, a position they had occupied only once in their last six seasons. He did it again in 1927 and this year, if he does not win the title, he at least should finish in second or third place.

The Galt Reporter states: The editor returned to publish obituary notices of persons who, while living, failed to subscribe for his paper. He explains it this way: "People who do not take their home paper are dead, anyway, and their passing away has no news value."

Lord Ralston: "You come perhaps with many different theories as to the method by which your common subjects may be carried out. There it so harm in that; it only becomes dangerous when these different sections insist—that it should be carried out precisely in the fashion which commands itself to them. Beware of that danger!"

The Rev. George Reid Andrews: "That play has no place on the stage which scoffs at reverence for God or human personality, that cheapens womanhood, that jokes at marriage and stirs strife among races and nations."

George Moore: "What people should be concerned about are the trees that are cut down to provide wood-pulp paper on which to print trashy novels."

Roy L. Smith: "What shall it profit a nation to grow rich and lose the respect of the world?"

Robert Quillen: "You won't believe it, but even in the 90's there were adults and even children who went for hours without spending a nickel."

The Rev. E. S. Waterhouse: "The modern man is not without mind, not of mind without matter, is the unthinkable thing."

Miss Alice Gordon: "What kind of church would my church be if every member were just like me?"

Roy L. Smith: "The man who tells you about other people's scandals will tell others about yours."

The Rev. Bernard Snell: "I believe that the desire for truth is stronger and more widespread today than at any time during the past 50 years, and that more are asking today what is the meaning of things, than at any time within the range of my experience."

The Rev. A. Pollock: "Hospitality to every corner should be the mark of every church. But no amount of private 'all heartily welcomed' in the weekend newspaper or on the notice boards would make up for the welcome the outsider never got in the church."

Sir Alfred Mond: "I have never yet seen a balance-sheet with this item: 'Good relations between employer and employed—£5,000,000.'"

Lewisohn: "The hope of eliminating all of our poverty, crime and wastefulness lies in our ability to learn the younger generation something constructive about the right use of money."

Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies Visit Lake of the Hanging Glaciers in British Columbia

Hundreds of lovers of the great outdoors have joined the Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, an organization of poets, novelists, scientists, educators, artists, Indian chiefs, cowboys, nature lovers in general, and those who wish to see the great outdoors in its grandest and most beautiful form. The Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies to see the Hanging Glaciers, first organized in 1927, and which this year started August 2, for the Lake of the Hanging Glaciers, from Trail, B.C. to the Hanging Glaciers, B.C. The trail is a long, hard one, but it is a trail that is well worth the effort.

better and the membership now exceeds a thousand, many of whom have won the gold and enamel button signifying that they have ridden at least fifteen hundred miles. Of the hundred or so qualified, 25 are ladies. Three of the girls-members who joined up with the main party, were the first to start. For the Lake had already covered upwards of 200 miles of mountain trails.

The Lake of the Hanging Glaciers, about 700 feet above sea level, in the Selkirk Range, was discovered about 20 years ago, and is still as wild as ever. The name gives some idea of its spectacular appearance, which is that of an immense cirque, with sight glaciers forming a moose which drops off sheer in an ice wall nearly 300 feet higher than the lake. From the top of the icebergs are falling continually, and forming a miniature Arctic sea in the heart of the mountains. The lake is a beautiful, deep blue, and many of which extend 1,000 feet in height. This glacier has challenged the ambition of many Alpine climbers.

This season the insect is also damaging the young alfalfa as it starts to grow. The hay crop has been severely damaged and where the worms are abundant the crop remains at a standstill.

Sugar beets are a favorite food and several larvae may be found on the leaves of one plant. The leaves are destroyed and the sugar yield decreased materially.

In the garden practically all the plants are attacked, including many flowers. Several weeds are also fed on: Lamb's quarters, pigweed, mustard, sunflowers and Russian thistle being the more common ones attacked. Where these weeds are common they furnish food for the larvae and having destroyed them the larvae turn their attention to other plants.

Methods of Control
Where the larvae are on the plants and feeding openly treat the plants with poison dust and apply it as soon as the worms are noticed. One application is usually enough. This is the best method to use under outbreak conditions.

Use for poison one pound of arsenate of lime or Paris Green or two pounds of arsenate of lead. Mix this with eight pounds of hydrated lime or slaked lime dust, cheap flour or road dust. This material acts to dilute the poison to make it effective and it makes no difference which is used as long as it is fine.

This material may be applied to the plants by means of a dusting machine or a "horse and pole" dusting outfit.

In the latter case about 15 to 20 pounds of the poisoned dusting material is placed in each of two bags of stout but loosely woven material which will allow a light cloud of dust to shake out when the bag is jolted. (Ordinary burlap or jute sacks of rather loose weave are very suitable for this purpose). A bag is fastened near each end of a stout but springy pole about six feet in length. (A pole of conduct by twisted material has been found to give both the needed springiness and the required strength). The pole is carried on horseback crosswise of the saddle, so that as the horse is ridden at a walk through the field each step jolts the bags, constantly sending out a light cloud of dust which settles on the plants.

By this method a strip of about ten feet wide is dusted, successive trips are made up and down the field allowing each time a slight overlap of the dusted strip. The dusting should not be done when a wind is blowing, but a slight breeze does not interfere with the work; the early morning and late evening are usually the best times for dusting. To reduce to a minimum the damage from this pest, the dusting should be done as early in the outbreak as possible. With large fields and heavy outbreaks, two or more dusting outfits can be used together, covering the ground very rapidly.

The dust is used at the rate of two pounds of the poison or eighteen pounds of the mixture to each acre. The cost is thus very small. Repeated tests under similar conditions have shown that there is no danger to stock when foliage dusted at this rate is later used for hay.

Dusting at an excessive rate may be a source of danger and is wasteful of material. In dusting it is well to have the nostrils of both the horse and rider covered with a damp cloth. A cloth can easily be adjusted around the horse's nose by utilizing one of the frames such as are used against the horse fly.

Dustings, such as the "hand gun" and the "mangle gun" (also operated by hand bar from horseback) may be used for applying the dust instead of the method described above.

Poisonous Bait

When the caterpillars are marching in armies between fields, there is evidence that poisoned baits may be used to good advantage. It is best to place a deep furrow across their path and along the bottom of this the bait is scattered. The armyworms have been observed to feed readily on poison bait such as that used against grasshoppers and cutworms. This is prepared by thoroughly mixing one pound of Paris Green or Arsenate of Lime or two pounds of Arsenate of Lead with fifty pounds of bran and then adding water until the bait is moist and crumbly, but not sloppy; a little molasses added to the water before mixing with the bran is probably beneficial.

A bait of freshly pulled lamb's quarters or plucked wet water and then dusted with the poison mentioned, at the rate of one pound of Paris Green to every fifty pounds of the weeds, should be equally effective. In such cases the bait should be spread in the morning as the caterpillars move very largely during the day time.

Cautions
Bags and heaps of poisoned bait should be kept out of the reach of stock and children, and empty bags used for bait should be burned when no longer in use. ARSENIC IS ALWAYS POISONOUS, and doesn't lose its strength by standing. If there is any doubt as to the identity of any insect attacking your crop or garden peas mail a sample of the insect and a part of the damaged plant to "Entomological Laboratory, Post office Building, Lethbridge, Alberta."

Place the insects and vegetation in a tight tin can. You will be advised promptly on receipt as to the insect in question and the best known means of controlling it.

As in the case of most pests, prevention is better than cure. This is true of the Bertha Armyworm. Damage to fields next year may be greatly reduced if the following measures are followed:

Destroy all lamb's quarters, pigweed, Russian thistle and mustard plants, particularly early in the season to prevent the moths laying eggs on them. When the alfalfa or clover field is cut for hay, cut the ditch banks as well and keep down volunteer growth as much as possible.

After the feeding of the cutworm is over for this year, about the 15th of September, on the 15th, if the weather is dry, they will go into the soil to pupate and will remain there until late in June next year. A thorough cultivation of alfalfa and clover fields by means of a duckfoot cultivator or disc will destroy many of the pupae and this is also a good agricultural practice particularly in the case of seed fields as many of the other insects are also reduced in number by this means. (Entomological Laboratory, Lethbridge, Alberta.)

JUNIOR ARCHBISHOP MAY BE SUCCESSOR OF RETIRING PRIMATE

TORONTO—That the resignation of Most Rev. Samuel Pritchard Matheson Primate of All Canada, may influence a reorganization of the administrative and diocesan systems of the Church of England in Canada is the opinion of certain Anglican quarters. Most Rev. David Williams, Archbishop of Huron, and Metropolitan of Ontario, although the Junior Archbishop, is looked upon as the probable successor to Dr. Matheson. The House of Bishops will meet next month to make the election.

Next in Succession
Under the tradition which has resulted in the Senior Archbishop exercising the functions of Primate, Most Rev. David Williams, Archbishop of Huron, and Metropolitan of Ontario, although the Junior Archbishop, is looked upon as the probable successor to Dr. Matheson. The House of Bishops will meet next month to make the election.

Archbishop of Penticton, Metropolitan of British Columbia, is next in line, but because of the desirability of having the Primate situated closer to the centre of Church life in Toronto, it is expected that the House of Bishops will choose Archbishop Williams. The latter has indicated on previous occasions that he believes that the importance of the Primacy would justify severing the office from the administrative care of the diocese.

Matheson and his appointment may revive in the Anglican community an agitation which an agitation which occurred five or six years ago, when the proposal was made that Archbishop Matheson should be located, as Primate, in Toronto or Ottawa.

CANADA'S MUNICIPAL YEAR BOOK

The publishers have just sent The Standard a copy of the Canadian Municipal Directory for the current year, and on reviewing it find it of the greatest value as a work of reference. The publishers are to be congratulated for the successful effort in establishing such a much needed work of reference.

The contents of the book have been standardized throughout and the alphabetical arrangement makes the

I Saw Last Week

CONSTABLE HARRISON having his first workout with the punching bag, possibly preparing for the 17th Richard heavy-weight elimination contest. Alta boy, Bill, got 'em "PAT" wondering when the I.O.D.E. will make arrangements for the big debate and what will be the subject, as he has a couple of "dark horses" in training that will make those orators look sick. PRESIDENT "TED" SCHULTE lining up his forces for the big Strathmore School Fair on Sept. 13th. Just like Ringling Circus, remarks Ted—growing bigger and better each year. A very charming YOUNG LADY refusing to take D. M. Landon for an automobile drive. ARCHIE GRAY once more sporting a nice river root pipe. HARRY MINER taking his summer vacation assembling some of the Massey Harris combines. MAT BARBOR and BISH holding a conference ONE morning that "Mat" got down early the office. MRS. ELLEN VAY busy arranging for the visit of the Public Health Nurse, Miss Conroy, on August 29. R. H. PATTERSON admiring his brood of young pheasants, and working out mentally how many he will be able to liberate in 1929. REVEREND H. B. CHAMBERLAIN listening attentively to one of Jim Moran's lectures. CONSTABLE HARRISON receiving three unwelcome visitors at Hotel Harrison. E. SHORT, of the Post Elevator, stepping lively as he shipped the first car of 1928 rye on Thursday last from this district. FRANK J. DUNN wishing he could spare the time to go regularly to Chinook. "Just like taking candy from the baby to pick the good ones," remarks Fred.

CONSTABLE HARRISON stating that some fellows returned from Chinook sadder but wiser men. T. E. Wright says that Nels White has a remedy for Colds and coughs that is a real wonder. OLIVER WRIGHT presenting some of his friends with bouquets from his garden. "BILL" TIERNEY looking up a supply of winter fuel for the Thermos. FRANK CLUTCHIE rushing to the phone to answer an important call. EDWIE COLLISON rapidly making a number of lady friends at Rockford. CAMPBELL McDONALD up before breakfast and rushing the water pail at 6 a.m. CARRIE J. McLeod to receive a post card from Revelstoke from the new benedict Bill Saunders. "BUCK" POITNER of Carleton Place, who has been working on the golf all summer, is fine form on Sunday, mystifying the local boys completely. "BOBBY" GARDINER giving his father a real demonstration regarding how to drive an automobile. BEN FESSENDEN having a heart-to-heart talk with T. Crow, of Grande Prairie, regarding the story regarding the mouse, but the suggestions made by Ben were of a private nature, hence you will have to get the details from Mr. Crow.

CONSTABLE HARRISON very tenderly stroking a coming mousetake, upon which he is building great expectations, if nothing happens to it. T. GATENBY restoring a lost handbag, much to the satisfaction of a Calgary lady. A NUMBER OF FRIENDS calling Ted Schulte enquiring when his right bow, George Quinn, would be back on duty.

Information contained therein easily accessible. In the introduction, the point is made that there are 4,200 self-governing communities in Canada with 50,000 officials engaged in conducting the affairs of these many cities, towns, and villages. It comes as a surprise that there are so many cities, towns, and villages. It comes as a surprise that there are so many individual urban and rural communities and there is undoubtedly great credit due to the editor, Mr. H. Wisely Bragg, for the excellent manner in which this vast amount of material has been collected together, and so carefully classified.

The third part of the book is devoted to a Buyer's Guide, for the use of Municipal officials, and everything that they have occasion to require, is listed together with the names of the manufacturers and dealers. In connection with this last part of the work there is also a free directory of cities which will prove of considerable assistance to Municipal men.

It is interesting to note that this Municipal Year Book, is to be followed up by the publication, in about four months time, of a new work entitled "Municipal Who's Who in Canada," which will be an interesting biographical book of reference, profusely illustrated, and constantly made use of in every busy municipality.

In the capable hands of this well-known publishing firm, and edited by Mr. H. Wisely Bragg, sent to all Municipal men for twenty years, it will indeed fill a long felt need.

THE GUN CLUB

"Mat" Barber has been fussing around all season, claiming not to be feeling just up to the mark, but quiet, patting himself on a system of diet and exercise, hoping that he would steal a march on the rest of the bunch, which he apparently did at the last shoot, when he made 70 out of possible 75, but to hear him cackle about it you would think that he only failed to make a possible each time in order not to break up the club. Even at that Jim Barnett almost caused him heart failure when he made a run of twenty-five and wound up with a score of 68. Leslie West, who was tired after his High River trip, had 65, while Miller, of Chetwynd, had 67, so none of these nitwits could figure out just what "Mat" had done to feel so cheery, and that the next time they meet that they will take a few wrinkles out of his curls.

The following were the scores: Barber 75, 24, 25; West 72, 25, 27; Miller 21, 24, 25; West 22, 20, 25.

H. Hanson took the kiddies to the Trench and Judy shoot at Ulfestien last Thursday.

A gathering of unusual interest took place last Saturday evening in the form of a surprise for Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Thomson. Mr. L. F. Pinkerton, on behalf of those present, in a few words, presented them with a token, as a reminder of the occasion. There was a large turnout.

DALEMEAD

Mrs. Johnson and niece, Miss Mattson, from Edmonton, visited friends at Dalemead on their way from home. The Johnsons were Dalemead residents some time ago.

On Wednesday morning at the N. Slack home, occurred the death of L. Slack, father of Noel Slack and Mrs. Frize. Mr. Slack had suffered with cancer of the neck for the past year, and had taken treatments at Rochester during the winter, but no relief could be found. A few years ago he came from Charlevoix, Missouri, his former home. Rev. Shearer, from Calgary preached the funeral service, and interment was made at Bursfield cemetery beside the grave of Mrs. Slack, who preceded him a few years ago. A large number of Dalemead friends attended the funeral.

Mrs. Russell and son, from Maytown, Missouri, returned to their home after visiting and caring for her father, Mr. Slack, for the past three months.

Mr. and Mrs. McCutcheon returned from a few days outing at Sylvan Lake.

The dance given by the Social Club was well attended, and all report a fine time. Dalemead orchestra furnished the music.

Miss Ruby Bremner, from Calgary, was a visitor at the J. Hable home.

Miss Janie Rae returned from her visit to the Peace River country.

BRITAIN TO WIN WAR OF FINANCE CONTROL

BERLIN—A financial war of independence has been begun by London with the assistance of Europe, to wrest the financial leadership from New York.

London's star has been rising and New York's sinking for about a year. The struggle will be decided in September and all indications are that England will conquer America in her battle for financial independence.

This is the sensational content of a long analysis of the international financial situation, published by the Deutsche Bergwerkstellung, an antitant and well-informed organ of the mining industry and trade.

Already, it declares, the German Bourse which formerly lost an average eye on New York, has learned to London and London's private discount rate has supplanted the New York tendency and its daily rates as the dominating factor. New York, which for a decade dominated the world's financial market, the paper adds, "has lost ground since the beginning of the current year; has stumbled headlessly from one measure to another; has edged up its discount ammunition and now seeks desperately for other measures to check what is regarded there as over-speculation."

C.P.R. PRESIDENT TELLS NEW YORK OF CANADA

NEW YORK—Excellent crops and satisfactory industrial conditions in Canada indicate good earnings this year for the Canadian Pacific Railway, in the opinion of E. W. Beatty, C.P.R. president.

He looked for crops of a bumper variety. Mining development has been extensive this year and satisfactory progress has been made in oil exploration, he said. Steamship earnings were still below those of last year, due in part to less immigrant traffic, hotel operations were somewhat lower, but with the tourist travel now on, he expected it to improve until early fall. He forecast larger gross and net revenues from railroad operations for the second half of the year than the same period of 1927.

PUTTING UP HAY FROM SWEET CLOVER

The following method of putting up sweet clover hay is recommended by Mr. D. Hendrickson, successful dairyman in the Gurnsey district. This method has been found by Mr. Hendrickson to be entirely satisfactory and gives a well cured, palatable product of high food value.

Harvest Early
 To obtain the best quality of sweet clover hay the cutting should be done early—just when the clover is ready to flower or when the plants are from 8 inches to 24 inches in height. If cut later the plants become woody and this gives plenty of time for drying. Also cuts down the yield of the second crop.

It is agreed by the majority of dairymen that the better offered the ideal method of harvesting the hay. The reasons are:

1. Most of the leaves and flower stems are saved and these help to make a first class hay.

2. Second crop is assured because the plants are cut higher than the mower and saves the lower buds.

3. Bunches are more easily handled during haying time. Bunches are easy to remove from the field.

Small Bunches Best
 Cut early, make the bunches fairly small and loose. This permits of good air circulation. Do not use the bundle carrier, but let each bundle fall where it is thrown out. Do not stook, as each bundle is held up by the stiff sweet clover stubble, and will dry out very satisfactorily in three or four days. The weather being favorable, you will have the finest, sweet clover hay a cow could ask for.

Remember to cut early with a bundle carrier.

Do not stack.
 Do not let the bunches dry out too much.

Each add a few handfuls of salt when stacking.

Scores of dairymen handle sweet clover hay and have found it the best method.—Youngstown Plaindealer

BRITISH BREAD HITS NEW LOW IN FIVE YEARS

LONDON, England.—The overloading of Canadian and United States markets with wheat has caused British wheat growers to lower prices in five years. Next week the price of a British loaf will be 16 cents, thus causing the household budget for millions of housewives.

The price of bread in Britain has been continuously falling since last April. "Canadian wheat pools are badly overvalued with wheat," a leading bakery director told the British United Press. "Consequently they must be sold at lower prices. This is of great benefit to us, and the Canadians are likely to last a long time. However, I see no hope for the return of the price to the level of five years ago."

The food council appointed by Premier Baldwin, for the purpose of reducing the cost of living, found British helplessness to deal with bread, or even to cover the cause for the high prices of this commodity. The present reduction is believed to bring the price of bread to the lowest figure at which bakers can make a reasonable profit.

ANGRY BULL KEEPS LINEMAN UP POLE

HOLDEN, Ia.—A belligerent brown telephone repairman, was "up a tree" for several hours here while a 2,000 lb. bull, pawing the ground, tossed his head and invited him to come down.

Browning had gone to repair a cable box and had just begun to climb the pole when the bull came along. Two or three attempts at descent enraged the bull, which rushed toward the pole.

Finally the bull became hungry and entered a grassy field. Sliding down the pole, Browning dashed for a stone wall over which he climbed and dropped to safety.

This was under the auspices of the rate payer's association, and much of the success of the day may be attributed to the general cooperation in taking charge of this affair. It was on the whole one of the most successful sports days Rockyford has had for several years.

The first shipment of ring-necked pheasants has been received at Rockyford. These birds have been liberated on the creek between Rockyford and Baintree, and are under government protection, which means a heavy fine and sentence for shooting any of these birds. We hope sportsmen over the country will take enough interest to protect them so that in a few years they will be as plentiful as the Hungarian.

LARGEST OMMETTE IS COOKED IN CRASH

ROME—"The world's largest ommette was made, recently on a railway line at the station of Sassuolo, when a collision occurred between a freight train and a light engine. The crates which contained 15,000 eggs were smashed by the violence of the shock and partially cooked by the steam escaping from the engine.

HERMIT PREFERS DESERT AND THE SOLITARY LIFE

TONOPAH, N.M.—A Donahue likes the desert. For more than 25 years he has lived a hermit's life in an abandoned mining camp while his family believed him dead. Donahue disappeared during a mining boom at Goldfield. Now, an aged "desert rat," he refused the offers of a civilized comfort made by his family if he would return to them.

Preferring the desert and its solitude to the cool beauty of his birthplace in Green Valley, Cal., he refused to leave when his daughter came to his weather-beaten hut for him.

AUSTRALIAN WHEAT CROP WILL SET NEW RECORDS

VICTORIA, B.C.—Australia as well as Canada, is enjoying the prospects of the greatest crops in her history, according to Sir Johnston Smith, millionaire publisher and promoter of Sydney, N.S.W., who arrived here Thursday aboard the liner Ararat. "Australia's wool and wheat crop for 1928 will be the most immense the country has ever produced," said Sir Johnston. "I hesitate to suggest a figure to represent the vast yield. Suffice it to say that we fully anticipate it to be a record in every way."

MOTHER ON TELEPHONE HEARS DAUGHTER WED

CARLISLE, W.A.—A telephone from sister to bedside enabled a mother to hear her daughter married. Because of illness Mrs. W. Brain, of Carlisle, was unable to attend the ceremony in Landaff Cathedral, so microphones and amplifiers were set up in the cathedral and a special telephone line was run to the bride home. Mrs. Brain heard the whole of the ceremony distinctly.

HERBERT HOOVER'S PAST RETURN TO PLAGUE HIM

WEST BIRCH, Ia.—Mrs. Addie Clark, a schoolmate of Herbert C. Hoover, is showing her alarm. She lives on Downey Street, near Main. CAR TURNS OVER SNAKE BITES HIM

NEW ORLEANS, La.—Jean La-Fore congratulated himself too soon as he was unharmed from a ditch in which his auto had been wrecked after leaving the highway. A snake in the weeds bordering the ditch bit him on the right hand as he crawled by the entrance of the ditch. At a hospital here, where anti-venom serum was administered his condition was reported critical.

Nelson's Unlucky Love Adventure.

Writing in the London "Evening News," Max Pemberton, well-known English writer, says: "I read in an American journal a discussion as to which is the most beautiful city in the world; and I am not surprised to find writer names Quebec, and names it with emphasis."

We cannot wonder at the literary enthusiasm Quebec has provoked.

"The majestic appearance of Cape Diamond," says one writer, "the fortifications the cupolas, and minarets, like those of an Eastern city, blinding and sparkling in the sun, the noble basin like a great purest silver, in which might ride with safety the navies of the world, the graceful meanderings of the River St. Lawrence, the fertile valley dotted with picturesque habitant houses, the distant fells of Montmorency, the grim purple mountains, the barriers to the North, form a picture which is no exaggeration to say is unsurpassed in any part of the world."

It is easy to applaud such charlatanism when one has not been to Quebec and seen the city with that country hospitality which makes its people so famous. Naturally, romance is never far away from such a picture. There is a story told of the Lord Nelson and of one Miss Prentice, who served under Wolfe and subsequently served under this fellow the famous captain on board his vessel. This seems somewhat drastic treatment, hardly likely to be popular in our time when a name-shore to marry makes are usually welcome and the thought of a bay confetti. But Quebec ever was and ever will be a city of the strictest proprieties.

I would add that my first visit to this incomparable height was made during the first great snowfall of the year. I believe some of the best snow I have seen in relatively a few hours, and anything more bewitching than the whited domes and pinnacles and the fairy-like houses beyond the walls it is difficult to imagine.

But Quebec is the home of superb spectacles, and in the Chateau Frontenac possesses one of the most dominating hotels in the world. Here is a great history like to no other one can name—majestic in the fashion of a medieval fortress, yet as up-to-date as any hotel in America. From its terrace a glorious panorama of river and village and hills beyond is unfolded. . . and it is no surprise to hear that many thousands of Americans seek this palatial height every year and succumb to its enchantment. "See Naples and then die!" But here see Quebec and find a new inspiration to live.

HEARD ON THE STREET

A friend who has just returned from a holiday in England tells me of a service which was displayed outside a village church. It read:

"On Saturday night a concert will be held, to be followed by a party supper. On Sunday morning the vicar will preach, and his subject will be, 'A Restless Night.'"

Aunt Ned said: "I ain't never been unwise to Pa except one evening when I was mad at him I set an altar where I'd set it if some man was to try to flirt with me."

The wife who is given plenty of rope is liable to slip.

"Here is my bill," said the surgeon. "Wish you would pay $100 down and then 25¢ a week."

"Sounds like buying an automobile," said the patient.

"I am," said the surgeon.

Film Actor: "But look here, if he's going to throw me into the rapids how am I going to get out?"

Producer: "Oh, that's all right; you don't appear again!"

"I haven't any sympathy for the man who beats his wife," said the passenger in the smoker of No. 4.

"Well," said another, a timid, undrained fellow. "A man who can beat his wife doesn't need any sympathy."

Little Audrey had been punished by her mother for breaking one of her toys.

The little girl took herself off to indulge in childish tears, and when her father arrived he was quick to note her tear-stained face.

"What's the matter, Audrey?" he asked.

"Nuffin, nuffin," replied his daughter sorrowfully.

"But you wouldn't cry for nothing," persisted her father. "It must be something."

"Oh, all right. If you must know, I've just been having a row with your wife."

Father: "You have been running about of your allowance, George?"

George: "I know it, dad. I've been hoping for a long time that the allowance would strengthen up enough to overtake me."

An old Scotchman, who always hastily drank his whiskey to the last drop as soon as it was poured out, was asked, "Why do you drink your liquor in that quick, eager way?"

"Well, you see," replied the Scot, "I once had one knocked over!"

A New York paper used to print its shipping news on the same page with the obituaries. That is not so anymore—ships coming in and departing souls going out.

However, one morning the headings of these columns became transposed, and the one that was published over a long list of eminently respectable persons who had passed on, carried a snapper heading than usual. It read: "Passed Through Hell Gate Yesterday."

Conductor: "To Calgary, eh? Why don't you stay on and go to Banff?"

Passenger: "Because I want to go to Calgary."

Conductor: "Can I sell you a seat in the chair car?"

Passenger: "No, not today."

Conductor: "A nice dinner on the diner at one-fifty?"

Passenger: "Are you kidding me?"

Conductor: "Not at all; you're my barber, aren't you?"

"Mac," said the butcher to the thrifty one, who was planning to make an exit from the neighborhood, "I have every reason to believe that you will never pay me the amount due. It would be very foolish of me to sue you and you have nothing of value that I care to take. I'll just give you a receipt for what I paid today."

"That's awfully nice of you," said Mac.

A few moments later the merchant pointed that Mac was still resting his pedantic extremities in the store.

"Was there something you wished to speak to me about?" asked the merchant.

"Well, not exactly. But isn't it customary to give a fellow a cigar when his account's been settled?"

"Rastus, your dog seems to be in pain."

"No, wh, he ain't in pain—he's just lazy."

"But surely he must be suffering, or he wouldn't howl like that."

"Jer' plum laziness, Jer' laziness; he's aitten on a thistle."

It was past midnight and the ominous tramp of heavy feet was heard on the stairs.

"What is that?" she cried, clinging to her sirocco lover.

"Sounds like your father coming down out of control," he replied in the jargon of his profession.

"One thing about modern fashions," says Percy Pariah, "a man doesn't carry a fit 'unlight' unseen."

He had just signed "A. Hogg" in the register at the King Edward Hotel.

"Why don't you sign your full name?" inquired John Vernon, the clerk.

"My first name's 'Dan,'" grunted the guest.

Mrs. Blank: "Certainly I do. Why, since I started, my husband has not eaten half the amount he used to."

Headmaster (speaking on the telephone): "You say Tommy Brown has a bad cold today, and won't be able to come to school? Who is that speaking?"

Voice (hoarsely): "My father, sir."

Conductor (to passenger who has brought in a heavy sack with him): "Four-bits, please."

Stockman: "What for, I thought the fare was two-bits?"

Conductor: "So it is, but there's another two-bits for the sack."

Stockman (opening sack): "Oh! Is there? Sandy, you'll better come out and pay yer air fare."

An Englishman and an Aberdeen (travelling together from London to Aberdeen, became very friendly. They had luncheon together and just as the Aberdeen put his hand in his pocket and said: "Allow me," but the Englishman would not have it and said the bill, remarking: "I paid that with pleasure because you're the first Scotsman I've met who offered to pay."

"I wish offering to pay," said Sandy. "I was going to say 'Allow me to thank you for your hospitality. I was pitin' my hand in my pocket for my pipe."

Perhaps most of the criticism of the new generation is as ill-fated as the remark made by a pessimist who was reading the account of a golden wedding celebration.

"Now, there you are. You don't hear of any of our young married couples celebrating a golden wedding!"

A number of men were engaged in a discussion as to who was the great inventor. Some said Edison, some said Marconi, and some said Morse. Finally, John, the Bulgarian, got in a word and said: "Well, chentlemen, done was great people, but I said the de man vot invented interest; vas no foot."

The bride party was at the altar. The small flower girl was the adorning piece of the bride. All her life she had tagged Aunt Frances.

The minister reading the service, asked: "Do you take this man to be your wedded husband?"

"Do," said the bride.

"I do, too, Aunt Frances," piped up the small flower girl, loyally.

Grandma: "And do you young people still set your caps for youthful swains?"

Flapper: "Indeed no, granmie. We set our katecaps today."

The following is a bishop's description of the kind of preaching sometimes addressed to fashionable congregations: "Brethren, unless you repent, in a measure, and be converted, as it were, you will, I repeat to say, be damned to some extent."

A very absent-minded man, accompanied by his wife, was returning home from the theatre.

As they reached the door of their suburban home the man clutched his wife's arm.

"Now who is absent-minded?" he cried triumphantly, producing two un-derlies from under his arm. "You're forsen on your umb-lla, but I've mine and yours as well!"

The woman gazed at him pityingly. "What," she exclaimed. "Neither of us has an one."

Wife (tearfully): "I think it's perfectly horrid of you not to admire my new dress. Everybody says it's charming."

Hubby: "Your friends, my dear, pay compliments, but I pay bills."

WORLD'S LARGEST AIRSHIP ALMOST COMPLETED NOW

LONDON—The world's largest airship, the Burney Rollo-Royce R101, is now almost completed at Hlowes, Yorks.

Men and women workers are busily engaged in fastening on the remaining sections of the outer envelope.

It is expected that the giant craft—the boldest experiment in airship construction ever made—will take the air in three months' time.

The first public inspection of R101 was made recently, when a large party of Members of Parliament, Je-minion High Commissioners and air experts saw the wonders of Britain's latest air giant.

The airship is over 700 ft. from bow to stern, and weighs 150 tons. It is driven by six Rolls-Royce engines, developing 4,200 horse-power, and can fly to India from England in four days, Canada in three days and Australia within eight days.

The six engines are housed in three power eggs, slung from the after portion of the airship, so far from the passenger quarters that their roar is reduced by distance to a subdued murmur. In these power eggs, the engines and dynamos which supply the airship with light and heat are also installed.

Carry 100 Passengers
Accommodation for 100 passengers and a crew of 50 is provided in a huge structure consisting of four decks. The lower deck, which projects below the airship, contains the control cabin, and above this bunks and living rooms for the crew are situated. The two upper decks are reserved for passengers, and are on a scale never before attempted on any flying machine.

There is a dining room for 50 people served from an all-electric kitchen, two and four berth staterooms, and balconies large enough for the 100 passengers to sit and watch the changing landscape below.

As soon as official trials are completed, R101 will make a Transatlantic flight as the preliminary to the development of still greater airships.

America in 36 Hours
"We have already evolved means of handling the airship mechanically without the use of the usual 300 men," said Commander C. D. Burney, naming the director of the Airship Guarantee Corporation, builders of the ship.

In addition new inventions already in being will double the load capacity, and after successful trials we could go ahead with the building of a 3,000,000 cubic foot ship which would have a speed of 100 miles per hour and carry 200 passengers across the Atlantic in 36 hours.

WESTERN CANADA SURELY MAKING REAL PROGRESS
Sixty years ago 450,000 acres was royal to wheat in Canada. Last year the wheat acreage of the Dominion passed the 21,000,000-acre mark. This year it is almost 22,000,000. Canada today leads the world in wheat exports and actually exports as much as India, Australia and Argentina combined.

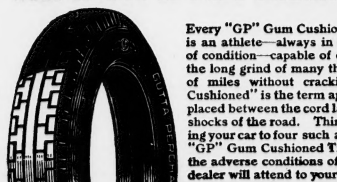

Alberta's far north is making progress in cattle raising. Two hundred head recently brought into Edmonton from the Porcupine Coulee country fetched top prices. All travelled at least one hundred miles before being loaded on the cars at Wembley, and one lot raised 40 miles beyond Dawson Creek travelled 120 miles by rail.

Exports of grain to date from the 1927 crop are 70,594,372 bushels, but the amount will be materially increased before the season is ended, and it is expected that the figure will reach 75,000,000. Of the bulk nearly 60,000,000 bushels went to the United Kingdom, 10,000,000 bushels to the Orient and more than half a million to the Antipodes.

Western Canadian farmers through the Canadian Wheat Pools are adding to their grain handling facilities at the rate of more than 150,000 bushels of storage capacity a day. The three wheat pools of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta are now operating 1,000 country elevators and 12 terminal elevators with a total storage capacity of more than 63,000,000 bushels.

CANADA CAN HELP
SOLVE BIG PROBLEM

REGINA—Why has England more than 1,250,000 men out of work when she has interests in an empire comprising one-third of the world's surface and supporting a population of many millions of people?

That is the question which H. M. Thornton, chairman of the Richmond Gas Store and Meter Company, London, England, who was a member of the party of 47 prominent English tourists which passed through Regina on their de luxe special train, confessed he is trying to solve on his trip through Canada.

"This is not only a holiday for me," he said, "but it is a business trip. I am looking for opportunities here in this limitless country for new business for our factory and trying to work out at the same time some solution for my employment.

"There is no reason why English manufacturers cannot supply you with many of the goods you buy in the United States today and this would not only help us solve our problems but it would keep within the empire billions of dollars annually.

Canada has an adverse trade balance with the United States but a favorable balance with England and it is not impossible to try to work out a method by which this adverse trade balance cannot be diminished to the benefit of England and the ultimate benefit of the British Empire as a whole."

THE SPEED MANIA IS TERRIBLE MENACE

The speed mania in motorists is becoming a terrible menace to the pedestrian population which, after all, is the larger section of the people. It seems as if no sooner does the motorist place his hands on the wheel of an automobile than some demon enters him and he becomes possessed with a desire to get there, wherever he may be going, at any cost. In fact, he need not be going anywhere in particular. Mostly the motorist is not going anywhere. But it makes no difference; he must get there. When he gets there as a rule he immediately turns back and seems in just as big a hurry to get back to the place he left as he was to leave it. "Posseid"—seems to be the right word.

A theory has been advanced that the possession of a horn as part of an automobile's equipment is the greatest incentive to speedy and reckless driving. The argument is based on the fact that the average motorist does not slacken speed when at intersections, as by law he is supposed to do, for when passing other cars going in the same direction, because he argues within himself that having given notice with his horn of his occupying a position that is sufficient warning to compel everybody to get out of his way and give him the right-of-way, and he is therefore not liable for slacken speed. Should an accident occur, it will be the other fellows' fault, not his. That there is much force to this argument can readily be seen by anybody who cares to stand at a busy intersection in cities or towns where there is much motor traffic and that means most places these days.

It might be a good thing to prohibit the use of horns or claxons, or whatever name these instruments of torture are given. In addition to rendering the night hideous in town and country alike, and disturbing the peace of inoffensive people who cannot retaliate or protect themselves from this intrusion on their peace and quietness, the horn seems to have the effect of producing accidents and not of preventing them as stated in the theory referred to above. If horns were not permitted on motor cars, the drivers thereof would be compelled to observe more respect for the rights of others, and to observe the laws governing the driving of autos much better than is generally done today. In other words, what seems to be needed by the automobile drivers will use their brains instead of their horns and will pay more respect to the rights of others instead of the half-breded, public-behaved-let-the-neighbor-knew-at-the-expense-of-the-rights-of-others, argument would be worth trying at any time, and could not possibly kill or harm more innocent people than the "I've-your-horn-and-kill-you" sort of thing does.

POLITICAL TALK ADDS TO THE JOY OF LIFE

The respective speaking tours of Canada's two chief political leaders seemingly having a good effect on the country at large, Mr. Bennett's criticism of the Government and its policy draws attention to certain phases of our common life which, at least, he discards as of no kindles interest in public affairs. Mr.

King's replies serve to put the other side of the case and enables the citizen to strike a balance. Incidentally, such speeches are helpful in enabling one of the other of the speakers to state some roughbound truth in an illuminating manner and thereby straighten the people in their political knowledge and patriotic sentiment.

To take one example, Mr. King answering Mr. Bennett, who had asked to what part the Government was directing the slip of state and what chart and compass were directing the voyage, declared the port of destination to be "the port of unity, prosperity and amity," the "development of the principle of responsible government." It looks as if Mr. Bennett was very nearly answered although, it may be that the Prime Minister was uttering the veriest platitudes. But, whatever view we may take, it is a good thing for all of us to be reminded of the two things named by Mr. King, the constitution and responsible government.

The constitution and responsible government are one and not two; one and indivisible. Take away the constitution and responsible government would be impossible. Destroy responsible government and their would be no constitution. When Mr. King refers to the constitution as the "life" of the country it is a timely reminder that this country is a British country. Its every ideal, its institutions, its laws, its social usages, its love of liberty, its passion for self-government, its racial loyalty, its recognition of the principle that righteousness exalts a nation—all these things are British. It was Britain that first established the principle of responsible government among the peoples of the earth, although as in the case of the American colonists she has sometimes denied overseas what she practiced at home.

Neither of our political chiefs has any monopoly of love for the constitution or of regard for responsible government. Mr. Bennett is just as good a constitutionalist as Mr. King, while Mr. King could not fight more valiantly for the preservation of responsible government than the Conservative leader would, if the principle were in danger. But our political leaders must talk. They add something to the joy of life in these dark days and they sometimes, as in the present instance, throw an idea into the realm of discussion and make us think of things back of political machines, party loyalty, and the game of "ins and outs."

ECONOMIC TINKERING NOT BENEFICIAL TO INDUSTRIES

The Regina Star says the Hon. H. B. Bennett has been preaching the doctrine of more production by Canada. He has been preaching that Canada is endeavoring to make great play with the statement that he has been an "Apostle of Glom." In order to make their point his opponents have been compelled to ignore one essential feature of Mr. Bennett's doctrine. He has not denied there is a greater prosperity in the Dominion, but he has contended that the tinkering with the economy laws which industry has been creating of late years, has resulted in creating a condition that is not healthy to Canadian production.

This, indeed, is not a matter of politics. It affects industry of all kinds. That there are evidences of prosperity no one denies, but as the Vancouver Province points out, "production presupposes industry, and industry is the basis of prosperity."

The main argument of Mr. Bennett is that Canadian industry should be developed by retarding the growth of the Canadian. That is a contention that surely no man, be he

WITH the superb ease of a thoroughbred that takes all in its stride, the "Bigger and Better" Chevrolet never falters in the most trying circumstances—proves its merit on the steep grades and in the face of the greatest obstacles.

The ruggedness of Chevrolet construction alone makes these things possible. There is no part of the engine—the of the chassis—the body that was not designed primarily for rugged endurance—put to the test again and again on the General Motors Proving Ground.

As a result the "Bigger and Better" Chevrolet steadily climbs without a halt, the steep slopes of the Rockies, and plunges its way through the deep mud and gulches of half-made prairie trails. In whatever conditions it may be placed, the splendid ruggedness of Chevrolet remains loyal in the service of its owner.

In long life has become proverbial—the very name Chevrolet is a synonym for strength that endures.

The "Bigger and Better" Chevrolet—beautiful in form—luxurious in appointments—rugged in construction—powered by the famous Valve-in-head engine—offers solid, rugged, trustworthy performance even under adverse conditions.

No matter what the roads—no matter what the weather—all times the "Bigger and Better" Chevrolet remains loyal in the service of its owner.

BRITISH MANUFACTURERS ARE NOT FLAG WAVERS

MONTREAL—In the past two years the British manufacturer has been waking up to the importance of Canada as a trade centre, and for this reason the Overseas Trade Department is reorganizing and improving its system in this country in an effort to bring the necessary facts before the manufacturers of the Old Country.

Said W. J. Glenny, Inspector General of the Overseas Trade Department for the organization in question, upon his arrival in Montreal: "We are not here to wave the flag, and ask Canadians to buy British goods merely because they are under the Union Jack, but we want to create an organization here that will enable the manufacturer in England to become acquainted with the problems and requirements of Canadian importers," he stated.

TELEVISIONS IN GENERAL USE SHORTLY

LONDON—Television broadcasting on a large scale, will be heard in England in the autumn. If the predictions of John L. Baird, the inventor, are fulfilled, Baird's company is now turning out television receiving apparatus at moderate prices and actual broadcasting will start as soon as certain mechanical arrangements have been completed.

"Televisions will be put on sale at the end of September," Baird said today. "They will cost about $125, and will serve a double purpose of radio and television receivers. They will be designed to link up to existing apparatus in the ordinary way, and will contain a wireless set to receive or diary broadcast programs, as well as a television screen on which will be visualized the features of the human face. The pictures will be seen on a round screen eight inches in diameter."

Slats' Diary

BY ROSS FARQUHAR

Friday—Today was Ned birthday to me and pa went down to the store to buy a present. Pa said the clerk told him something nice for a present for his wife, the clerk said how long have you been married to her and pa said 12 yrs. and the clerk said how long have you been married to her and pa said 12 yrs. and the clerk said how long have you been married to her and pa said 12 yrs.

Saturday—Pa pulled a wire truck today when he came home from work with his check. He said Saturday is the only day of the week when the worm turns—turns over his pay envelope. Ma did it was a good joke for me, she thought. Sunday—Pa had planned to play paw today but Ma had disapproved. Ma was going to church, so instead of playing paw Pa put in a few extra hrs. of sleep. Vin went with us and he and the pup went to the beach. Sunday—Pa had planned to play paw today but Ma had disapproved. Ma was going to church, so instead of playing paw Pa put in a few extra hrs. of sleep. Vin went with us and he and the pup went to the beach.

Munday—Vin and me started to bid our rat today for our trip to the beach. We were planning to have a mast and a cabin on it but have gave that up as it proved to be too much work. I am going to be the captain. We are keeping the project dark around here.

Tuesday—Saw Angie again today with the smart check from Calgary. I was riding my bicycle & after she had to speak I acted like as if I didn't see her. She makes me tired, as I have disapproved I went even to her when me and Vin go on our cruise. Wednesday—pa was reading in the Standard tonight about some men in India who had held up his hands in the air for 29 yrs. pa said he thinks the newspaper man made a mistake about the place because they don't have robbers like that in India, pa thinks the man lived in Chicago.

Thursday—my father was telling pa tonight about a uncle of his who is a Scotch. he said this uncle is trying to get a patent on a vacuumpan for a late life for a stomach. his idea is to keep it from being put them in a red boot. Went over to see Vin who is sick and ill in bed. he is sure what caused him to be sick but thinks maybe it is due to all the demands and hardships he's at. I am sure I will be able to help the other men. guess we will have to postpone our trip till the storm blows over.

Friday—At first we will broadcast only the head and shoulders of speakers and actors from our own studio, but later we will enlarge our plant to permit the broadcasting of groups with the possibility that complete stage plays can be sent out within a short time."

MAN ATTEMPTS SWIM THROUGH PANAMA CANAL

GATIN, Canal Zone—For the first time in the history of the Panama Canal, the huge Gatun locks were opened for the passage of a single individual. The individual was Richard Halliburton, author, who on Tuesday commenced an attempt to swim the canal from the Atlantic to the Pacific, a distance of about 50 miles.
Four sets of great steel lock gates weighing 1,500 tons each, had to be opened and closed to lift the swimmer from the Atlantic sea level, 85 feet to Gatun lake.
Halliburton this afternoon entered the alligator-infested Gatun lake, accompanied by an army of sharpshooters as guard.
The author is swimming during the daylight hours and rests at night. He expects to reach Panama in about six days.

LARGEST OIL GUSHER

TULSA, Okla.—The Skelly Oil company has brought in what it considers to be the largest oil gusher in the United States today in its latest test in the Hendrick pool of Winkler county, Texas. It was estimated to be flowing 800 barrels an hour, or 21,600 barrels a day.
